In the absence of any part of the fierce excitement which has characterized the last four or five years of the history of the United States, I am here to-day to speak to you in plain, earnest and sincere, though minimpassioned, languago. The calm which naturally follows a violent storm, is already moon us; and instead of seeking to again arouse the bitter feelings and fierce animosities of the past, it is should be the duty of all citizens to seek now rather to assuage the fountains of om when letters are registered. We are not re-possible for lowes in the mails, should they occur,

OHIO POLITICS.

Speech of C. I. Vullandicham, at

Fellow-Citizens of Auglaize County:

Wapakoneta, Auglaize Co., O., on Saturday, Sept. 16, 1865.

The editor doesn't wish such a result, but WORDS TO THE SOLDIERS. I find myself surrounded not only by expects it as a consequence of the change the women and the men of Anglaize county, who at home two years ago gave me their earnest support, but very largely by officers and soldiers engaged in the late civil war in the United States. They are here from several regiments. They nade in the status of the race. If such is deliberate ernelty; if it is not a worthy sequel to the slave trade, so justly abhorred by mankind. Some good came out of the shave trade. It brought savuges to a clvilized country, where they have improved in all the elements of human nature. The few have multiplied into three sure, be understood to be invidious if I single out for especial comment that particular regiment. Such races have up that the race with the surrounded by those who were unisled by the calumniles, falsehoods alstory of their wrongs and sorrows. It and detractions which were continually and detractions which were continually heaped upon me. I felt desirous, more especially, to be present in the county of Anglaize, because it was in this county that the 57th was organized—the only regiment from the State of Ohio in which necessary for the dominant party to The negro will survive and improve. The fate of the Indian is well understood now, and although he differs widely from the negro, his inferiority to the white race is common with the latter.

After all, it would be rash to dogmatize the contage to stand true to its point-cal principles, was made up of men who were themselves cowards? Let the record upon the battle-field speak; let that flag send forth its interance—"Freedom's banner, torn but thying." (Applainse.) The We publish this morning a speech by C. L. Vallandigham, to show how the canvass is going on in Ohio. He does justice to his opponents, and that is the facts were stated, what was the answer? astice to his opponents, and that is the most they have to fear.

KILLING AT KNOXVILLE.—On Saturday, white Sergeant was ordered to halt by a regroguerd. The man failed to obey the refer when the negro shot him the hell.

I have no fear upon that subject. There are not supported by the refer when the negro shot him the hell. I have no fear upon that subject. There are unany who were misled, and who cust their votes against me, because they believed these false reports, and because the speeches which I made were never allowed to circulate in the army; because Demothe same day an Irishman, going by on a truck, was shot and killed. We could not learn any further particulars.

The Iudians in Council at Fort Smith have consented to the abolition of slavery in the various tribes, but do not want the free niggers incorporated into their tribes. The following is the number of slaves held by the tribes of the Southwest at the breaking out of the war:

I have not attempted, for one moment, hitherto, nor now, to disguise my sentiments, 2,000; Choctaws, 3,000; Chickasaws, 1500; Cherokees, 4,000.

For the two weeks ending to-day, the Patent Office has issued two hundred to record. But I was for the Union then, and the Patent Office has issued two hundred to record. But I was for the Union then, and the Patent Office has issued two hundred to record the Union then, and the Patent Office has issued two hundred to record the Union then, and the Patent Office has issued two hundred to record the Union then, and the Patent Office has issued two hundred the Patent Office has been patent of the Patent Office has a patent of the Patent Office has been patent of the Patent Offic event is now vindicating the wisdom and correctness of the sentiments I then uttered. But I was for the Union then, and to-day I stand vindicated as a member of that old Union party—to-day the only lin-mediate Union party in the United States. To-day again we have changed places. There is the party against the Union, who would exclude the Southern States for five, ten, fifteen, thirty years, and keep the Union broken for a whole generation, ent L. Vullandigham is to submit to that abuse. [Laughter.] PERSONAL TO ICHABOD CORWIN.

the Union broken for a whole generation, so that at the expiration of that time they imight make the negroes citizens and admit negro States to constitute one half of the Union. I said in the beginning of the war that time would vludleate the fact, that to the Democratic party would be committed the mission of restoring the Union. So it is to-day. [Applanse.]
So much I thought it-especially and pecullarly appropriate for me to say to-day in reference to the soldiery of the State of Ohlo. I have walted to meet this gallant, noble regiment, whose men and whose onlo. That wanted the standard whose officers stood by me and vindicated their rights, and at the same time aided me to vindicate my rights. To them above all others I could address these words, not by wars of vindicate my rights. others I could address these words, not by way of vindication, but that they may have tenfold assurance. I repent, that this contidence was not misplaced. [Applianse.] Yes, to-day I am laboring for the Unlon, and its Immediate restoration and its reestablishment without delay—for the restablishment of the rights of the people, and the rights of the States—I mean the right of the white people to govern the United States according to the principles laid down by our fathers. PERSONAL TO GENERAL COX.

I observe that an attempt is being made he question of negro equality and negro utfrage, and immediate restoration of the Union, but to appeal to supposed or actual prejudices in the minds of a large portion of the citizens of Ohio against the gentleman who addresses you, who is not a candidate for office, but merely a private citizen like yourselyes. Some one has all izen like yourselves. Some one has suggested to General Cox, as a convenient mist or fog under which to escape the dis-agreeable necessity of answering fully upon these questions, by making assaults upon Mr. Vallandigham. One of these was made before the assembling of the Democratic State Convention, In the town of Warren, Trumbull county, and was reported, correctly I am sure, in the Cin-cinuati Commercial. It was my purpose at one time, during the State Convention, o call attention to the fact and denounce it, but supposing it would not be repeated, and that General Cox had meantime satisfied bimself that be had misstated inc. I forbore. But I have slice observed that it is the burden of every speech he makes. It is the Diricen of every speech is makes.

I have not seem a single speech or sketch of anything uttered by him in which this statement is not deliberately repeated.
Here it is, under the head of "Vallandighamism.*"

"One," says General Cox, "who was out recently their (that is the Democratc) candidate for the Governorship of this see and date for the Governorship of this State, openly proposed the forntation of a new confederacy, to be made up of the Northern States,"

Now, either General Ja-cob Dol-son Cox—[laughter],

"Phodos, what a name To fill the sounding trump of fame!" [Laughier. has not read what I proposed, and what I advocated and defended in an emborate advocated and defended in an emborate speech, and therefore has had no right to assembled in the State of Ohio, placed forward as their standard-bearer, in that political contest, a traiter. [Applanse,] You believed film to be a patriot. You knew him to be a Democrat, which is the synonym of patriot. [Applanse,] You knew him to be a Union man when the Union was denounced by the late Administration as a league with death and a covenant with hell. [Applanse,] Confidence of "Give It to him."] That is strong language, and except in reference to Benjamin F. Wade, for a similar revenant with hell. [Applanse,] Confidence of the patriotism of your relatives at home, and trusting to the patriotism of Republies. I never did. I did propose, and those who are familiar with the records of Congress know it—I did propose to divide the States into classes in the Senate of the United States and in the electoral college, inside of the Union, and to preserve the Union. The premuble that accompanied the proposition distinctly avows that the purpose is to save the Union from impending disintegration. [Applause.] That was my proposition. I did not go quite as far as Andrew Johnson did, just two months before me. The sou did, just two months before me. The present President of the United States. present President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, proposed in December. 1860, to divide the United States, and recognize the division of the United States permanently, and by the Constitution, by amendment to that instrument, into two sections—the slaveholding and the non-slaveholding sections; and that the President, one term, should be taken from the South—a slaveholder, and in the interest of the slave bower, and the next term on the again calls for her gallant sons to march to the battle-tield, let the Fifty-seventh regiment be reorganized, and then, under a Democratic administration, that regiment will be the regiment of honor—a regiment that, as this tattered flag proves, established and vindicated its conrect in the presence of the prival conductor. The tree the provence of the prival conductor. or—a regiment that, as this tattered flag proves, established and vindicated its conrage in the presence of the armed foes of the Union, yet whose soldiers dared to vindicate their right to ballot as citizens. [Applause.]

MR.VALLANDIGHAM'S COURSE IN CONGRESS.

You have heard much against me. If you had not already declared by your suffrage that you put the stamp of falsehood upon these reports, I might, in delleavy, have hesitated to have said aught.

the East and New England as of any other section.

DEMOCRATIC TACTICS. DEMOCRATIC TACTICS.

Now, I repeat, that my allusion to these things is not by way of defense, but simply to characterize, in appropriate language, which I regret to utter, but which, nevertheless, must be uttered, to characterize it in language which it deserves. It is not my fashion, in conducting a political campaign, to act on the defensive. I desire General Jacob Dolson Cox to understand that be can not put the Demoderstand that he can not put the Demoderstand that he can not put the Pento-cratic party on the defensive. Let him look to the questions which interest him, but our business is with negro equality, with equality of taxatlon, with the repeal of the commutation tax, and with the restoration of the Union without conditions. These are the questions which he must meet. And when he undertakes to steal into the office of Governor, by pandering to tho prejudices created by his own party in the last four years, I beg him to understand he will flud himself mistaken. inderstand he will find himself mistaken.

[Applause.] I am here to carry the war into Africa, (laughter); and not to defend against anything. We are the attacking party now. We have our bayonets ready for the charge, and you will soon hear the sound upon the whole line, "np, guards, and at 'em." [Applause.] My remarks are but in passing, and for the purpose I have already indicated.

PERSONAL TO GENERAL SCHENCK. What other men following Mr. Cox may say, especially an Individual who aspires to be United States Senator in place of the present incumbent, is of the smallest con-sequence. Nobody expects anything better from Robert C. Scheuck, who knows him. (Cries of "That's so.") I refused a year ago to notice his assaults, and I don't pro-pose to violate the rule I then laid down.

PERSONAL TO COLONEL MOODY.

I am resulted, however, passing from this subject, of an incident in the history of this State, just now peculiarly pertinent. Among the orators, in addition to General Cox, there is a somebody rejolcing in the name of Colonel' Moody. Whether that is the parson [Criesof"That's the nam"] and the man who took two hundred dollars recently from a soldier for getting him the postolike in Piqua, is immaterial. [Cries of "Give him hell."] The mission of Granville Moody on this The mission of Granville Moody on the court is seems to be to abuse Clement 1.

The last speaker announced for the meeting next Saturday is the Honoralile leliabod Corwin. Well, I thought "Ichabod" would be written soon upon their banners, for their glory certainly has departed. [Laughter.] I had forgotten the existence of this individual. I beg pardon for alluding to him now, and would not, except for a public incident in his personal and private career. This individual who is invited into Aughaize connto meet the returned soldiers, men of the 57th, was the first armed rebel in the United States since the whisky insurrec-tion; and, to-day, upon the records of the United States District Court, Ichabod Corwin stands indicted for the crime of treason against the l'nited States, in the United States District Court, Ichabod Corwin stands indicted for the crime of treason against the United States, in the year 1857. [Applainse.] He is a line specimen to be brought here to talk to the patriots and solicies of Anglaize county, and fulfill his other mission of abusing Clement L. Vallandigham. I defended the case in behalf of the Marshals of the United States chalf of the Marshals of the United States.

Not for political opinions; not for freedom of speech or of the press; not for standing by the Union as his fathers made it—but for disobedience to the law and armed reistance to the authority and Constituti of the United States, was this man, Icha-bod Corwin, arrested. I say through mis-

We had rebels before Jeff. Davis became the head of the Southern Confederacy. This particular rebellion that I speak of s one instance. The ease growing out of t was prosecuted before the United States Court. In that case the Governor of Ohio, Salmon P. Chase, now Chief Justice of the United States, and recently a tourist among the negroes of the Southern States, Attorney General of the State, Mr. Wolcott, afterward Assistant Secretary of War under Edwin M. Stenton, to defend the violators of law and the armed rebels of 1857, and to threaten urned resistance in with the degrees of the Governor and the men who belonged to his political party. Who were the disunionists then? The men who proclaimed that the Constitu-tion was a league with death and the Union a covenant with hell, or were the DEMOCRACY AND UNION, years to take nineteen States out of the Union. They stale from the Democratic bemoracy population. In some localities, as in Boston and Philadelphia, the deaths of the race exceed the births. These facts are unfayorable to the prediction that the race will live and prosper, at any rate in competition with white men.

There is, moreover, a general law or fact. Interior races of men perish away before the superior. The Sandwich Islander, lamber to did find the unost docide and promising of barbarons races, is now disappearing by a rapid an exception? The fate of the Indian is an exception? The fate of the Indian is

MR.VALLANDIGHAM'SCOURSE IN CONGRESS. You have heard much against me. If you had not already declared by your suffrage that you put the stamp of false-hood upon these reports, I might, in delicacy, have hesitated to have said aught. And I have to-day personally to give you assurance that your confidence was not misplaced. You are told, soldiers, that I voted against supplies to feed and clothe you. It is false. [Applause.] I never gave a vote against uny measure during the entire Thirty-seventh Congress, beginning with the war, to its close, on the fourth of March, 1863, against the interest credit restriction and mouth, in gold. But it is there. But in so fair as the policy of the President is correct, in so far as he stands on and by the principles of the Constitution, above all, so far as he is for the immediate restoration of the Southern States to the Union, I am determined to stand by lihu, and I believe that is the decision of the Democratic party of the Union. If he will but make good, by acts, the utterances of his on the eleventh day of this month—only five days ago—he will have the support of the men who were Union men before he and I were born, and whose children will be men who were Union men before he and

The freedmen's bureau.

Freedmen's Bureau! Welt, we had a Bureau of the Secretary of State, of the Secretary of War, of the Navy, and of the Treasury, in good old Democratic times, to administer the Government for the bene-tit of white men; but now we have this uen, to take These, then, are our principles. We are again, what we always were, in fact, the Union party of the United States. We do want the Southern States back. Why, Mr. was before it was broken no-that, though was before it was broken np—that, though some of our brothers and sisters have wandered and got ont of the family, now that they are repentent, we desire again to see them around the old hearthstone Just as in the good old times before they went off. We do want the South back. Why don't in the good old times before they went off. We do want the South back. Why don't they want it? First of all, because with the instincts of that Purltanton which is the first principle of this party, there is hatred to the South; but that is not the only cause. One of the orators of the party in this State openly avows it. It is because if the South returns to the Union they will vote the electoral vote of eleven States with the Democratic party in 1848. Pardon me, but that's what's the matter. [Laughter.] That orator tells the people to whom he speaks, that they must not persupport of negroes, I want a tax levied, and twice as heavy, on the United States bonds as on anything else. I want a barrean to feed and clothe returned soldiers, the lame and the sound, the siek and the healthy—all who want food and clothehealthy—all share the Democratic party will get again into power if they do. Being any in the power any way. Applause I file is, let him say so, and let him republiate the Freedmen's Bureau. The Freedmen's Bureau I I has already drawn millions and tens of millions of dollars from your pockets, [Applause.] We are for the Union, and were for it when, hypocritically, you were for it when, hypocritically, and were for it when, hypocritically, you were for it when, hypocritically, when the properties of the transfer of the t rean? But the party to which we are opposed a party of despotism. I will thank any man who supports that party if he will show me one resolution passed by the Re-publican party since the war began, in cause these violations of the Constitution, these arbitrary arrests and military commissions, have been directed against their opponents. And when the tables are tirned, and the Democratic party shall have power, if the rules laid down by the late Administration are to be the rules for future Administration, there will correct the constitutions.

THE FIRE YESTERDAY MORN-ING. Loss 832,000-Three Firemen Injured by the Falling Walls. In the Democrat of yesterday we made nention of the fire which occurred at an early honr in the morning, at the orner of Eighth and the river. The fire rus first discovered in the brass and iron nundery and machine shop of Hawley, Billings & Wayman, and before the en ies could arrive at the scene, the entire indery was enveloped in one sheet of ames. So rapidly did the flames spread that the entire bullding was almost de stroyed before the steam fire department got under full headway. The flumes soon spread to the two frame cottages adjoining the foundery, which were only saved rough the extra exertions of the firemen. These buildings, which was the property of Wm. Prentiss, were occupied by Mr. Billings and Thos. McLain. Mr. Billings' oss in damage to his furniture, by fire vater and removal, is about $1,000, while the loss of Mr. McLain will amount to this city. In the sunny clime, where the about $300. The roofs of the buildings vere badly damaged, but the rest of the ouses were saved. Mr. Prentiss places ful than the one now on our table, for on this property. The building in which the foundery was ituated was the property of Hawley, Bilings & Wayman, and was completely detroyed. It was valued at $12,000, upon which there was an insurance of $8,000. llawley, Billings & Wayman estimate their loss, by loss of stock and damage to machinery, at $18,000, without any insurance. This swells their loss to $30,000, with $8,000 insurance. The following are the principal losers with the amount of each loss: Hawley, Billings & Wayman, $30,000:

Mr. Billings, $1,000; Mr. Prentiss, $500, and Thos. McLain $100. We give a recapitulation of the losses, together with the amount of insurance:

$31,800 By the above it will be seen that the is above the insurance was $23,800.

The loss was divided between the folowing insurance companies: Continental this theater, is one of the linest comedic of New York, $2,000; Lafayette, of Brook- American stage, if we are to judge from her lyn, $2,000; Home, of Connecticut, $2,000, formances last evening.
